

Working with Couples — 2021

A Couple Therapy Training Day
with Walter Logeman

Saturday, 20 March 2021 and Saturday 14 August 2021

9:30am – 4:30pm

Being in love is powerful. This power calls both partners into a deep process of healing and growth. This workshop will focus on producing the interaction between the partners. The aim is to help the couple see the opportunity to learn what their difficulties are there to teach them.

You will learn:

- To connect with both partners every step of the way.
- To assist the partners to be with each other fully.
- To name the relationship dance (role dynamics)
- Become confident when working with the power of intimacy.
- Enjoy the challenges of couple work.

Psychodramatic methods will be used to bring to life our explorations and learning. The workshop will benefit people beginning their practice as well as experienced therapists. This workshop is also for people who work individually with people in a relationship.

For those who want to take their learning further, this day is a lead-in to the Psychodramatic Couple Therapy Training Course. <https://psychodrama.org.nz/couple-therapy-training/>

Walter Logeman

Walter is a Psychodramatist and trainer in the CITP. He is motivated by the healing power between people in a relationship.

Venue

Quaker Meeting House, 217 Ferry Road Christchurch

Enrol

$90.00. Maximum of 12 places. Enrol online:

<https://psychodrama.org.nz/the-power-of-intimacy/>

Enquiries to Walter Logeman walter@psybernet.co.nz 021 271 0610